REPORTS OF SELECT COMMITTEES.

The Special Committee, to which was referred the telegrams, communications, etc., to the Convention, in reference to the location of public institutions, submitted the following majority and minority reports:

MAJORITY REPORT.

Report of the committee to whom was referred letters, telegrams, petitions and memorials on the subject of locating the state capital and public institutions.

MR. PRESIDENT:

The aforesaid committee beg leave to report as follows:

First. Although there are communications on both sides of the question, the preponderance, municipal and otherwise, is overwhelmingly against locating the capital and public institutions in the Constitution.

Second. The internal and external evidence indicates plainly that the commendations were in the main worked up by the Northern Pacific Railway corporation or by a narrow, local selfish mistaken qualification of favored communities, while the protests are in the main spontaneous, broad and patriotic expressions from the people.

Third. That we view with alarm the sure doom of the state treasury as foreshadowed in the following naive resolution of approval from Ransom county:

"Resolved, That it now becomes the duty of the voters of Ransom county to send such persons to the Legislature of our new state as will use every proper means to secure the buildings, etc."

One can hardly complain of the sincerity and logic of that resolution.

Instead of removing a fruitful course of corruption as the majority report claims, this article will fasten upon the state a powerful inducement to form a spoils ring in every legislature for log rolling and "going in for the old flag and a big appropriation."

Fourth. That this Convention owes it to the people of this state and to a proper regard for its own position in history to seriously and respectfully consider the objection urged against this article. That its effect on the Agricultural College is to dismember that institution and scatter its professorships and departments in remote parts of the state to grow up into so many useless high schools instead of a great seat of learning which should become the pride and glory of the state as contemplated by the munificence of the federal government.

Fifth. That inasmuch as many of these communications emphatically deny the right of this Convention to locate these institutions and regard the article a high-handed usurpation of their rights not contemplated by them in the election of May 14th.

Therefore, the article should at least be submitted as a separate article, like the article on Prohibition, so that the now evident and bitter hostility thereto will not result in defeating an otherwise very good Constitution and thus obstructing the march to statehood.

Sixth. That we read with deep humiliation in many of these communications from the people intimations of corruption and bribery and regret that such suspicious have found a lodgement in the minds of the people, as it will create distrust of the whole document and injure the fair name of the state both at home and abroad.

Seventh. The minority report relies very much for popular support on the hypothesis that our capital property of $250,000 at Bismarck would become valueless unless the obnoxious article is included in the Constitution.

The premises do not justify such a conclusion.

The majority report says that "when the seat of government is changed the land reverts by the terms of the deed to the donors—the building reverting with the land."

That is like the news we used to get from Texas during the war: "Important, if true."

The committee have carefully examined the "terms of the deed" from the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to the Territory of Dakota.

It is recorded on Page 125, Vol. A, No. 4, miscellaneous records of Burleigh county.

The only limitation therein contained is as follows: "The premises hereinafter described shall be held, used and disposed of by the party of the second part * * * for the purpose of erecting and completing the Capitol building of the said Territory of Dakota upon the parcel of ground first hereinafter described."

As soon as the buildings were erected and completed this condition was fulfilled, and the title vested absolutely in the territory.

The territory could have conveyed a perfect title to all the property at any time subsequent to about 1885. South Dakota has now formally relinquished all and any share in this property, and North Dakota's title is absolute.

The claim of the minority that "It would open up the way to innumerable suits against the territory from the holders of warrantee deeds for lots purchased, who would have an equitable if not a legal demand for the return of their money," is unfortunate, to say the least.

In the first place, there are no "warrantee deeds" to these lots.

The capitol commissioners, when they conveyed these lots, very properly omitted to insert any warranty whatever.

The only words that appear in said deeds between the description of the lots and the attestation of the signatures are contained in a habendum clause which reads as follows: "To have and to hold the same with all the appurtenances thereto belonging to the party of the second part, their heirs and assigns forever." Besides that, a state cannot be sued without giving its consent thereto.

Our Anglo-Saxon ancestors have from time immemorial maintained that principle and justified it on the maxim that "the king can do no wrong."

In the states of the American union the same policy has prevailed, and is abundantly justified on grounds of public policy and the general welfare of the state.

It is a remote alarm to fear that North Dakota will depart from the wholesome traditions.

Our land at Bismarck is valuable, simply on account of the Capital being there.

Any other community in the state would be glad to give us an equal area for the same purpose, and a like inflation of values would follow its location anywhere.

M. N. JOHNSON,
J. F. SELBY,
J. L. COLTON,
Minority of the Committee.

MINORITY REPORT.

MR. PRESIDENT:

Your committee to whom was referred various memorials concerning the locating of public institutions, respectfully submit the following report:

The remonstrances against the action of this Convention have undoubtedly been inspired by a misapprehension of the facts, or a misunderstanding of the reasons for such actions. We pass by the threat contained in some of the memorials, that unless the Convention recedes from its position, the memorialists will defeat the Constitution. These threats cannot be the result of reflection, for if seriously made, they would imply that liberty of thought and a decent regard for the opinions of others had fallen to a low ebb indeed. In the history of Dakota, every quarrel, every antagonism of sections, almost every charge of corruption, bargain and sale, has grown out of the location of public institutions. A disgraceful dispute, lasting for years, costing the territory thousands of dollars, and which threatened the dismemberment of the Legislature itself, grew out of the location of the capital. There is scarcely an institution of the territory, the location of which has not demoralized the legislature, arrayed communities against each other, and in some cases called for military interference, to avoid actual bloodshed. Even so late as the meeting of our last general assembly, the strife over the location of an institution, threatened to disrupt the pleasant relations of two of our principal cities, and occupied the attention of the legislature for weeks, to the detriment of public interests. Your committee believe that the positive and final settlement of the many questions sure to arise in our first legislature over the location of public institutions, would be a blessing to the new state, a relief of the tax-payers, and an avoidance of local feuds and quarrels, which otherwise would plunge the state into confusion and extravagance, for the next ten years. It is perhaps natural that the opponents of this article should magnify the objections to it, but we protest against that representation of the motives and influences governing the majority which is contained in some of these memorials, and which has appeared in the columns of the press. The charges are not only untrue, but are grossly unjust to the members of this convention. The proposition submitted in this article is fair to all sections, recognizing every division of the territory, and will prove a measure of equity for the future, as well as for the present. Five of the new institutions are located in the northern part of the state, four in the central, and three in the southern; six are on the line of the great Manitoba system, four on the transcontinental line of the Northern Pacific, and two on the line of both roads. Five are in the thickly populated counties of the eastern border (the university makes six), three are in the central range of counties between the Red and the Missouri rivers, and two on or west of the Missouri. The Constitutional declaration that these institutions shall be located permanently in certain places, costs the tax-payers nothing. It affords no pretext for the erection of public buildings, any more than does the organic act which also provides for them. The Convention is at liberty to restrict the number of these institutions which shall be built in a given time, or the Legislature may do so at its first or any subsequent session. It simply disposes of quarrels over locating in the future. The plea that the people should vote on this matter cannot be made in entire good faith, for no member of the minority has offered an article proposing a vote on the location of the university, the hospital for the insane, the agricultural college or any other institution fixed by the article in question. The cry has been, and still is, to vote on the Capital location, and to leave other institutions to be located by the Legislature—a proposition which all experience proves to be fraught with the utmost danger to the peace and dignity of the state. So far as the seat of government is concerned, a recital of a few facts is sufficient to vindicate the majority in the action they have taken, in the minds of reasonable and unprejudiced men. The Capital was fixed at Bismarck on conditions that the citizens would contribute $100,000 in money and 160 acres of land. This they did, adding to the quarter section demanded, another quarter section, making 320 acres of land altogether, donated to the territory. The building as it now stands with its steam heating fixtures, etc. has cost nearly $200,000. Of this amount the territory has contributed about $100,000. When the seat of government is changed, the land reverts by the terms of the deed to the donors. The result of such a change therefore would be to not only deprive the citizens who have contributed their means to the erection of this building of all they have expended, (the building reverting with the land) but would be absolutely abandoning and throwing away the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of property now vested in the people. Not only this, but it would open up the way to innumerable suits against the territory from the holders of warrantee deeds for lots purchased who would have an equitable if not a legal demand for the return of their money. These are the facts briefly stated, and it seems to your committee that they should appeal to every delegate in this convention. Can we afford to sacrifice this large property to gratify any whim or local ambition? But this is not all. If the seat of government is changed a new building for capitol purposes must be erected. Is the new state so rich that it can afford to spend a quarter of a million dollars unnecessarily and for property thus thrown away? We think not. We believe the sober sense of the people will agree that such a course would be unwarranted, extravagant and reflective upon the judgment, if not the sincerity and honesty of this convention. Every other institution located and built by the territory remains undisturbed. Nobody thinks of demanding a vote on the University or the Insane Asylum. Why should the Capitol be made an exception.

If this article is adopted and ratified the state will start out free from quarrels, with no cause for sectional strife, with no necessity for increasing its debt, to provide buildings at the seat of government, and, as your committee most sincerely believe, with an era of peace and prosperity before it, all of which is respectfully submitted.

Mr. Appleton moved to amend section one hundred and eighty (180) by adding at the close thereof the following:

Provided, That the property of all railroad corporations may be taxed in such manner as the Legislative Assembly may deem for the best interest of the state.

Provided, However, that the Legislative Assembly may by law accept and provide for a tax based on gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes to be assessed against the road, road-bed, rolling stock, franchise and all other, and only such property as is owned by any railroad corporation and used by it in the actual operation of its road.

Which substitute was withdrawn.

Mr. Camp as a substitute for all amendments moved to amend the section by adding thereto the following:

But the Legislative Assembly may by law provide for the payment of a per centum of gross earnings of railroad companies to be paid in lieu of all state, county, township and school taxes on property exclusively used in and about the prosecution of the business of such companies, but no real estate of such corporations shall be exempted from taxation in the same manner and on the same basis as other real estate is taxed, except road bed, right of way, shops and buildings used exclusively in their business as common carriers, and whenever and so long as such law providing for the payment of a per centum on earnings shall be in force, that part of section 183 of this article relating to the assessment of railroad property shall cease to be in force.

Mr. Camp moved to amend the substitute offered by himself by adding thereto the following, after the words "common carriers:"

But no real estate situate more than 200 feet from the center of the main line of the railroad of such company shall be exempted from taxation by the payment of such percentage of gross earnings.

But no real estate of such corporations shall be exempted from taxation in the same manner and on the same basis as other real estate is taxed, except roadbed, right of way, shops and buildings used exclusively in their business as common carriers.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA—1889.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of North Dakota, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of civil and religious liberty, do ordain and establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are by nature equally free and independent and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation; and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

SEC. 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have a right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require.

SEC. 3. The State of North Dakota is an inseparable part of the American Union and the Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land.

SEC. 4. The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination or preference shall be forever guaranteed in this State, and no person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness or juror on account of his opinion on matters of religious belief; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this State.

SEC. 5. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless, when in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require.

SEC. 6. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offences when the proof is evident or the presumption great. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted.

Witnesses shall not be unreasonably detained, nor be confined in any room where criminals are actually imprisoned.

SEC. 7. The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate; but a jury in civil cases, in courts not of record may consist of less than twelve men, as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 8. Until otherwise provided by law, no person shall, for a felony, be proceeded against criminally, otherwise than by indictment, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger. In all other cases, offences shall be prosecuted criminally by indictment or information. The Legislative Assembly may change, regulate or abolish the grand jury system.

SEC. 9. Every man may freely write, speak and publish his opinions on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that privilege. In all civil and criminal trials for libel the truth may be given in evidence, and shall be a sufficient defense when the matter is published with good motives and for justifiable ends; and the jury shall have the same power of giving a general verdict as in other cases; and in all indictments on informations for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts under the direction of the court as in other cases.

SEC. 10. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for the common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for the redress of grievances, or for other proper purposes, by petition, address or remonstrance.

SEC. 11. All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation.

SEC. 12. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be maintained by this State in time of peace, and no soldiers shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, except in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 13. In criminal prosecutions in any court whatever, the party accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial; to have the process of the court to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and to appear and defend in person and with counsel. No person shall be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense, nor be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

SEC. 14. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation having been first made to, or paid into court for the owner, and no right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation, other than municipal, until full compensation therefor be first made in money or ascertained and paid into court for the owner, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation, which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived.

SEC. 15. No person shall be imprisoned for debt unless upon refusal to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law; or in cases of tort: or where there is strong presumption of fraud.

SEC. 16. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligations of contracts shall ever be passed.

SEC. 19. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open court.

SEC. 20. No special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted which may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the Legislative Assembly; nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens.

SEC. 21. The provisions of this Constitution are mandatory and prohibitory unless, by express words, they are declared to be otherwise.

All courts shall be open, and every man for any injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation shall have remedy by due process of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay. Suits may be brought against the State in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases, as the Legislative Assembly may, by law, direct.

SEC. 23. Every citizen of this State shall be free to obtain employment wherever possible, and any person, corporation or agent thereof, maliciously interfering or hindering in any way, any citizen from obtaining or enjoying employment already obtained, from any other corporation or person, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 24. To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of government and shall forever remain inviolate.

sideration, or upon conditions, that any other person elected to the same Legislative Assembly will give, or will promise or assent to give, his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such Legislative Assembly, the person making such offer or promise shall be deemed guilty of solicitation of bribery. If any member of the Legislative Assembly, shall give his vote or influence for or against any measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such Legislative Assembly, or offer, promise or assent so to do upon condition that any other member will give, promise or assent to give his vote or influence in favor of or against any other such measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into such Legislative Assembly, or in consideration that any other member hath given his vote or influence, for or against any other measure or proposition in such Legislative Assembly, he shall be deemed guilty of bribery. And any person, member of the Legislative Assembly or person elected thereto, who shall be guilty of either such offenses, shall be expelled, and shall not, thereafter be eligible to the Legislative Assembly, and, on the conviction thereof in the civil courts, shall be liable to such further penalty as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 41. The term of service of the members of the Legislative Assembly shall begin on the first Tuesday in January next, after their election.

SEC. 42. The members of the Legislative Assembly shall in all cases except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same. For words used in any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 43. Any member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the Legislative Assembly, shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon without the consent of the house.

SEC. 45. Each member of the Legislative Assembly shall receive as a compensation for his services for each session, five dollars per day, and ten cents for every mile of necessary travel in going to and returning from the place of the meeting of the Legislative Assembly, on the most usual route.

SEC. 46. A majority of the members of each house shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members, in such a manner, and under such a penalty, as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 47. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members.

SEC. 48. Each house shall have the power to determine the rules of proceeding, and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence; to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member; and shall have all other powers necessary and usual in the Legislative Assembly of a free state. But no imprisonment by either house shall continue beyond thirty days. Punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar a criminal prosecution for the same offense.

SEC. 49. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and the yeas and nays on any question shall be taken and entered on the journal at the request of one-sixth of those present.

SEC. 72. A Lieutenant Governor shall be elected at the same time and for the same term as the Governor. SEC. 74. The Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at the time and places of chosen members of the Legislative Assembly. The persons having the highest number of votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively shall be declared elected, but if two or more shall have an equal and highest number of votes for Governor or Lieutenant Governor, the two houses of the Legisla-

SEC. 75. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the military and naval forces of the State, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States, and may call out the same to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion. He shall have power to convene the Legislative Assembly on extraordinary occasions. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of the government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the Legislative Assembly, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 76. The Governor shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after conviction, for all offences except treason and cases of impeachment; but the Legislative Assembly may by law regulate the manner in which the remission of fines, pardons, commutations and reprieves may be applied for. Upon conviction for treason he shall have power to suspend the execution of sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislative Assembly at its next regular session, when the Legislative Assembly shall either pardon or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence or grant further reprieve. He shall communicate to the Legislative Assembly at each regular session each case of remission of fine, reprieve, commutation or pardon granted by him, stating the name of the convict, the crime for which he is convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the remission, commutation, pardon or reprieve, with his reasons for granting the same.

If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elect shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if it be approved by two-thirds of the members elect, it shall become a law; but in all such cases the vote of both houses shall be determined by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered upon the Journal of each house respectively.
