

Washington Standard.

"Hew to the Line, Let the Chips Fall Where They May."

VOLUME XXVIII.—NUMBER 35.

OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON TERRITORY: FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 26, 1889.

WHOLE NUMBER 1,316.

WASHINGTON STANDARD
PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
JOHN MILLER MURPHY,
Editor and Proprietor.
Subscription Rates:
Per Year, in Advance $2.50
If not paid in advance, 30 cents per copy.
Six months, in Advance 1.50
Advertising Rates:
One square (inch) per year $15.00
Per quarter 4.00
One square, one insertion 50 cents
Subsequent insertions 25 cents
Advertising, four squares or upward by the year, at liberal rates.
Legal notices will be charged to the attorney or officer authorizing their insertion.
Advertisements sent from a distance and transient notices must be accompanied by the cash.
Announcements of marriages, births and deaths inserted free.
Obituary notices, resolutions of respect and funeral services which do not possess a general interest will be inserted at one-half the rates for business advertisements.

Business Cards.
C. L. FLANNICAN, M. D.,
(Late of Minneapolis, Minn.)
CHAMBERS' BLOCK,
CORNER FOURTH AND MAIN STS.,
OLYMPIA, W. T., 1889.
D. S. B. HENRY,
U. S. DEPUTY SHERIFF.
Residence: Sixth Street, Swan's Addition to Olympia, W. T.

THE CHOICEST OF
Wines, Liquors and Cigars,
MAY be obtained at all these of the best and lowest prices.
Elegantly Furnished Saloon,
ON MAIN STREET, NEAR THIRD.
Polite attention and the best of supplies.
P. DOLAN
Olympia, June 3, 1887.

CARLTON HOUSE,
A. D. WHITNEY, PROPRIETOR.
THIS favorite hotel is now open for the reception of the public. New house and new furniture throughout. Everything First-Class.
Rooms can be secured by Telephone.
COLUMBIA ST., bet. Third and Fourth.
OLYMPIA, W. T., 1889.

J. G. PROCTOR,
Architect and Superintendent
PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS
Prepared for all styles and classes of buildings.
Offices: Tacoma and Young's Hotel, Olympia, July 25, 1887.
N. A. ROO, Public Judge. J. E. MITCHELL, Public Judge.
ROOT & MITCHELL,
LAW, REAL ESTATE
AND INSURANCE OFFICE.
OFFICE AND PROOF TAKEN.
Olympia, May 11, 1889.

Insure in the
NORTHWEST FIRE AND MARINE
Insurance Co., of Portland, Oregon.
Capital $1,000,000
T. H. FORD, Agent.
Office at the County Building.
Olympia, Oct. 15, 1887.

C. N. HUNTER,
DENTIST.
OLYMPIA, W. T.
No. 1 Israel Block.
June 17, 1887. 1793
J. A. COOK, M. D.,
CONSULTING PHYSICIAN
Thirty years practice. Late Surgeon U. S. Army.
1100 PACIFIC AVENUE, TACOMA, W. T.
March 25, 1889. 23
Carpenter and Wagon Shop.
P. M. WADDELL, Prop.
FIFTH ST., OPP. OLD BREWERY.
All work warranted. Give him a trial order.
Olympia, May 6, 1889.
C. F. STONE,
Land Locator
3,148 Pacific Avenue, Tacoma.
Choice timber and farming lands.
November 9, 1888.
THE OFFICE,
FOURTH STREET, bet. MAIN AND COLUMBIA,
OLYMPIA, W. T.
CALL AND SEE ME.
J. H. WILSON, Prop.
Olympia, Jan. 25, 1889.
Charles H. Ayer,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW.
ROOMS 2 AND 7, TURNER'S BLOCK,
OLYMPIA, W. T.
Olympia, Nov. 7, 1884.
W. L. BROWN, M. D.,
YOUNG'S HOTEL, OLYMPIA, W. T.
Sept. 25, 1889.

MERE MENTION.
From the daily of Friday.
Elwood Evans was in the city on professional business during the present week.
The luxury of salt-water bathing is being largely indulged in by many visitors from abroad.
Olympia's quondam citizen, E. N. Oumette, made a business visit to the Capital City, this week.
The pleasant weather and a big pile of lumber are jointly improving the condition of the new hotel.
Hon. J. H. Morgan, Territorial Superintendent of Public Instruction, will leave, to-morrow, for Port Townsend.
The removal of thousands of cubic yards of gravel for street work, is making a big canyon in the hill on the Eastside.
Prof. Swim, who was taken quite sick, this week, during the session of the Board of Education, left for his home yesterday morning.
The Wednesday evening meeting at the Congregational church was largely attended and the prohibition question pretty thoroughly discussed.
Mr. L. E. Follansbee, leaves to-morrow, for Port Townsend, to take part in the Judicial Teachers' Institute, to be held at that city next week.
Oregon melons are plentiful in the markets and liberal-minded Olympians are remembering their faithful servants, the newspaper fraternity.

The daily trips of the State of Washington are already having the effect to enhance the social amenities existing between the people of Tacoma and Olympia.
The announcement is made by an Olympia dressmaker, that big bustles are going out of style. It remains to be seen what new-fangled device will take their place.
The Signal Service office reports, minimum thermometer, 50 degrees; maximum thermometer, 87 degrees; weather cloudy, no rain; barometer falling from 30.02 to 29.88 inches.
The electrical age in which we are living is now rendering many once popular expressions quite obsolete. It is no longer "thunder and lightning," now, but simply "an electrical storm."
Church festivals have broken out anew and will probably follow each other in rapid succession. What "oldest inhabitant" can remember a Legislative session or a Constitutional Convention when church festivals did not flourish.
The new store building now in process of erection on the corner of Washington and Third streets, will rest upon blocking supported by mud-sills. This is quite an improvement on the common method of supporting wooden buildings.
It is a subject of common remark that upper Sound districts are enjoying an uncommon freedom from the ravages of forest fires. Due care should, nevertheless, be exercised by land-owners for there is plenty of time for such things to take place before the fall rains drench the surface of the country.

From the daily of Saturday.
Miss Maggie Swan is lying in a very precarious condition at the Hospital.
The eating of green fruit is causing the usual amount of sickness among the children of Olympia.
Mr. James Chambers is just finishing an elegant residence building on the west side of Main street, near Maple Park.
Tumwater people are not at all behind Olympia in the work of town improvements. The little city is rapidly heaving ahead.
"Where do they come from?" is the question suggested by the crowds that daily alight from the steamers and trains in Olympia.
Exercises commenced at the Chastana grounds this week and a good many Olympians are preparing to take part in the season's work.
Mr. W. B. Gardie made a short visit to Olympia, yesterday, for the first time in many years, having been called here by the death of his mother.
Some of the Oregon papers are boasting of the Potter carrying 200 persons at a trip to the seashore. On the Sound that number would be considered a small force for that capacious steamer, and her passenger list was often two or three times that long while here.
MASTER J. M. STEVENSON, of Skamania county, aged 71, a brother of Delegate Stevenson, was shot through the lung by a companion last Friday, while hunting. The wound is a dangerous one, but not necessarily fatal.
The Daily Indicator, of East Portland, suspended publication after a struggle for life lasting just one week. Those who attempt such enterprises find there is a vast difference between doing an act and in sitting by looking on.
ELENSBURG has just put up 75,000 for railroad construction.

Our Law Framers.
THURSDAY, July 18, (Continued).
The amendment of Warner to secure a minority representation on the Supreme Court bench was further discussed by Messrs. Sullivan, Weir, Sturdevant, Kinnear, Crowley, Lillis, Govey, Minor and Turner, against, and it was lost by a strict party vote, 24 ayes and 43 noes.
Buchanan offered a substitute for sections 2 and 3, providing for one Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, to be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, instead of being elected by the people, as submitted by the committee, and made a lengthy speech thereon, in which he declared his faith in the people, but was confident a percentage could be bought, and further said, "even some on this floor, I think, could be bought," but declined to offer a substitute for the bill.
Workmen are still engaged on the Jefferson street reservoir. To-day they are putting in the timber work. In case of a fire that portion of the city, the building of this cistern will be shown to be a wise and prudent measure.
Carpenters are putting up the diagonal walls of the new hotel building. When this edifice is finished it will be a model of grace and elegance, and the strongest combination of timber and iron that ever entered into the erection of an Olympian house.
J. C. Sullivan moved to pass from Sec. 3 and take up Sec. 4. Lost, 29 ayes, 33 noes.
Sullivan moved that the committee rise and report a recommendation that the Convention re-commit Sec. 3 to the Committee on Judicial Department, which was done.
Adjourned.

FRIDAY, July 19, 1889.
The Convention met at 9 A. M., the President in the chair.
Prayer by the Chaplain.
Reports and remonstrances:
Henry, from Olympia Board of Trade, in regard to powers and restrictions of corporations, a lengthy but an interesting and interesting document. Referred to Committee on Corporations.
Fay, (by request), for woman suffrage.
Halletts for prohibition. Referred to committee.
On motion of Glascock, the courtesies of the floor were extended to N. P. Conner, Esq.
Reports of Standing Committees:
Powers, from Committee on Mileage and Printing, reported in favor of a Public Printer, etc. Laid over to be reported next week.
Turner, from Committee on Judicial Department, reported a substitute for Sec. 3, which provides for the term of office of the Justices, to be six, seven, five, and one for seven years; after first election term, for six years. Laid over to be reported.
The whole article having been read, the Convention resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, Cosgrove in the chair, and proceeded to consider Sec. 4 of the article on the Judiciary, which was read and approved, and the Convention adjourned until 9 A. M., to-morrow.
The Committee of the Whole then passed to the consideration of Sec. 5, Goldman moved to amend by making the term of Superior Judges four years instead of six years, after the first term, which is fixed at three years. Carried, 26 to 24.
Powers moved an amendment in regard to classification of counties into districts, pending which, the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again, which report was received and leave granted.
On motion, a recess was taken until 2 P. M.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

MONDAY, July 22, 1889, 1:30 P. M.
The Convention met, the President in the chair.
Prayer by Rev. Mr. Chapman.
Reports and remonstrances:
Minor presented a resolution, directing the Committee on Judicial Department to prepare an article on impeachment and removal from office. Referred to committee.
Power offered a resolution in reference to paying the additional clerks of the Convention. Referred.
Brown, from teachers at Sprague, offered an industrial department in our public school system; for compulsory education, and for an educational test. A communication was presented by the President from ex-Attorney General Williams asking for the use of the hall for a meeting to-morrow evening. Granted.
Govey, from Unitarian church and the State. Lost. The section was adopted.

In Committee of the Whole, Sec. 14 of article on Judiciary Department being under consideration, Mr. Willson moved to amend by having the salaries of all the Judges to be fixed by the Legislature, the salaries of the Judges of the Supreme Court not to exceed $5,000 per annum, the Superior Judges $2,000 per annum, and their salaries not to be increased or decreased during their term of office. After discussion, in which the lawyers generally advocated high salaries, a vote was taken and the motion was lost.
Dyer then moved to fix the salary of the Judges of the Supreme Court at $4,000 per annum. Hoyt favored it and was followed by Judge Turner, who stated that it had been limited through the error of the reporter to $4,000 for the Supreme Court bench and he was embarrassed thereby, but he was careful not to deny the soft impression that he had made for the high salaries for the Judges.
A motion for the committee to rise was lost.
Dyer then moved to amend by fixing the salary of Chief Justice at $5,000, and the other Supreme Court Judges at $4,000 per annum. Lost.
McGraw proposed an amendment, fixing the salary at $3,000 per annum. Warner eloquently advocated the amendment, although he believed it too large. It was followed by Buchanan and others in favor of, and by Goldman, Griffiths and others against it, and upon a vote it was lost.
Motion for the committee to rise was lost.
The report of the committee on the Judiciary was read and approved, and the Convention adjourned until 9 A. M., to-morrow.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom takes the floor of the Convention, but when he does there is no mistake in the matter, and he is a most successful and successful orator under consideration. He is outspoken all at once to bluntness and always calls a spade a spade and is therefore very popular with the people. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but has been in this Territory since 1873, is tall, light complexioned, with a full beard and fine physique. He is married and a lawyer by profession, having a large practice east of the mountains. He has served two terms very satisfactorily as Prosecuting Attorney, and is regarded as a sound and able, if not brilliant lawyer and a firm reliable man.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Pen-and-ink Sketches of its Members.
OF SEATTLE, is tall, of fine proportions—weighing nearly 200 pounds—fair hair, light complexion, and with a face that portrays scholarly attainments, profound thought, great dignity and moral character. His face is a goodly one, and he is very gentlemanly in his deportment, and exerts a marked influence on his fellow members of the Convention.
He is a native of New England, born in Connecticut, 43 years of age, married, a physician and surgeon, standing in the very front rank of his profession, and has had a large and lucrative practice ever since he came to this Territory, in 1868, immediately prior to that time, he was sent by the Massachusetts Institute to Alaska and after making his valuable report to that national institution, he located in our midst. He entered the army early in the late war, enlisting as a private in the Seventh Connecticut regiment, General Terry (then Colonel) in command, and was assigned to the post of Hospital Steward, but soon after was promoted and became assistant surgeon of the First South Carolina regiment, (colored) Colonel T. W. Higginson commanding, and served in that capacity to the end of the war. Since residing in this Territory, he has been Mayor of Port Townsend several times, and upon re-mov-ing to Seattle, he was also elected Mayor of that city. In this Convention, containing as it does, many of the foremost orators in the Territory, he is a most conspicuous figure, and is a finished elocutionist. He is not a frequent speaker, but what he has said is terse and forcible, being rendered in a plain, unadorned style, and is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the representative body of which he is a member.
OF DAYTON, Columbia county, is a member who assumes no airs and seldom