Dear John,

I write to say how relieved and pleased I am that the party leaders have now been able to fix and look forward to a date when they will meet in formal discussions. My hope and prayer, shared I believe by many thousands on both sides of the divide, is that you all will persevere in what I know will be a difficult and arduous task until you succeed in reaching some agreed arrangement which will bring contentment and prosperity to our tortured Province. You personally along with your colleagues and the other persons involved will be our prayers.

Yours Sincerely,

Rev'd Dr Eric Gallagher

Dear Eric

Thank you very much for your kind letter of encouragement. Given the personalities involved I suspect our whole process will be punctuated by crisis and drama. I can see my own role as one of maintaining stability, hope and a sense of commitment to the process and I would very much value your prayerful support during this time.

I would also want to say I have a most profound personal respect for the part you have played over the years and if at any stage you feel that there is something you would wish to say to me do not hesitate to be in touch.

You can get met at Stormont, Belfast 763210 ext. 2239 or at my home number Belfast 793097.

With all good wishes.

Yours sincerely

~~Dr John T Alderdice~~
