

Monica,

You may be interested to know, if you don't already, that there are different qualifications for voting in different elections in the Republic.

As far as I can recall, the qualifications are as follows:

Presidential elections - Irish citizens & passport holders
State elections - Irish & British citizens -
European & local elections - all EU citizens.

Don't quote me on this.

David

Monica