I believe the nation state was a product of history ... Europe has changed the nature of + meaning of sovereignty and has changed the nature of the British/Irish question, because the position of sovereignty has changed.

= What does he mean by sovereignty - when he says Sovereign, independent, total - does this mean that nationalism is a dated notion ==

= now the 2 traditions - a historic tradition of liberalism + conservatism ==

What is the difference between nationalism + republicanism, loyalty + unionism.

= A society - why does the ① = role of religion - he sees unionist as protestant does he see Nationalism as Catholic what then is the role of religion + the churches.

What about nationalism feeling ++ about aspects of Britishness.

para 5. Is there a difference between England (Anglo-Irish) + Britain (Sonne-Wald)?

para 6 2 traditions - more than 2 over what the historical, literary, international tradition.

para 8. wider Irish family - throughout the world?
(may Robinson see this as broad) " Britain?

para 10. not denied expression - denied power.

para 11 (a) protestant - role of religion, - Catholic church.
(b) so many nationalists also regard themselves as British,

para 17 cultural relationships - we disseminate Sovereignty - what does it mean *

para 33

para 34. resolved the quarrel but did respect boundaries.

* refer to his response to my question of yesterday - is nationalism not out-dated para 16. surely the 3 relations are in respect of the 3 strands but strand 3 is UK / ROI not Britain / Ireland.

para 26. the right of the Irish Govt. - a belief of...
or for some other reason.
