TOWN TALK.

Gossipy Little Paragraphs Picked Up Throughout the City.

The bar at the fair grounds has opened for the season.
The United States barracks at Evans-ton burned yesterday morning.
John Nolan and wife have sold lot 8, block 262, to Ed. Lawler, for $435.
Fish Commissioner Miller is completing details for his exhibit at the fair.
Twenty-three cars of cattle were loaded for the eastern market in this territory yesterday.
See Dr. Birney, the specialist, about your nose and throat trouble. Room 1, Hotel Normandy.

Geologist Ricketts has sent two wagon loads of specimens to the fair grounds and will have three or four more.
A Brass Monkey, with a splendid big case, will be seen at the opera house Monday evening. The advance sale of tickets is large.

In the convention yesterday Teschemacher of Laramie moved that no more than three lawyers be allowed to speak successively to the same question.

Fast freight trains made up of forty-four cars of tea and fifteen cars of raisins were handled over the Wyoming division yesterday and last night.

A ranch on Horse creek, owned by John W. Collins, was yesterday sold through John Roberts, for $10,000, to Oliver W. Marshall, of Longmont, Colo.

Dr. Birney, the specialist, treats the nose, throat, eye and ear only, and in these he is thorough. The doctor makes no charges for consultation. Room 1, Hotel Normandy.

Before Judge Carroll yesterday John Winslow was convicted of the theft of an overcoat and a few lap robes from the IXL barn. He was sent to the county jail for fifteen days.

Palace barber shop and bath rooms, opposite the post office, runs five first-class artists. For a good, quick shave or the best bath in the city give them a call. Haircutting a specialty and no long wait.

THE LEADER office received pretty nearly a car load of ducks from those mighty hunters, C. A. Campbell and J. G. Pratt, last night. They have been spending a few days in the Horse creek country.

The grand lodge of Wyoming K. of P. meets in Evanston on next Tuesday. A fare and a fifth will be charged by the railroads. Those who attend from Cheyenne will leave Monday and return Thursday morning.

D. N. Collamer, 1721 Warren, corner Eighteenth, has a lot of household goods to dispose of cheap as he is about to leave town. He can be seen for a few days either at his residence or at the "Fair" store on West Seventeenth street.

At a convocation of the missionary jurisdiction of Wyoming and Idaho, held at Boise City, Idaho, Rev. Dr. Rafters of this city, was elected to represent the jurisdiction as clerical delegate at the general convention to be held next month at New York city. Dr. Rafters will attend.

BOUGHT BOGUS BONDS.

How Cheyenne Men Invested in Foreign Securities.

A Shrewd Swindler Secures Several Victims.

Hornor's St. Louis Banking House a Fraud.

Chas. Huerline, a plausible, smooth-tongued, loquacious and well conditioned individual, keener by far than the ideal successful drummer, and arrayed in costly fabrics fashioned in the latest style with pure water stones for ornaments and a big Jerguson watch at the end of a heavy chain, registered at the Inter Ocean a couple of weeks ago. He quietly announced that he was private agent for E. H. Hornor's banking and brokerage establishment at 220 North Broadway, St. Louis, and that he desired to market in Cheyenne, to business men only and without publicity, an issue of German Austrian bonds. These securities were better by far than United States treasury notes. They could be purchased on the installment plan. This was the explanation of Huerline in detail.

You accept the bond and pay $8 a month until $200 stands to the purchaser's credit. The instrument is then your property absolutely. From the first you receive gratis, regularly, tickets in the lottery in Austria. Drawings occur thirty-six times annually, and cash prizes range from $50 to $300,000. Max Meyer a prominent business man of Omaha, held a bond, and had recently drawn $5,000, and the names of several New York people who had become wealthy by securing bonds were given. If at any time the owner desired to surrender his holding or was unable from any cause whatever to meet a payment, the bond could be surrendered, and not only would the aggregate sum paid in be refunded but accrued interest would accompany it. After maturity the owner receives $4 a month on the investment.

The bond business as outlined by Huerline charmed everyone inclined to mild speculation. One of the first to secure a bond, lithographed in court Austrian and on the heaviest liner paper, was an attaché of the hotel at which the special agent lodged. When the pleasant excitement incident to the plunge into the swim had subsided, the ambitious hotel man gave himself to a few minutes sober reflection and mental calculation. Being rather shrewd and world wise he easily reached the conclusion that he had been victimized. The suspicions of the hotel man were communicated to co-investors and a council of war was convened. The inn employe was deputed to open correspondence with the references given by Huerline. Max Meyer, of Omaha, promptly responded that he never boasted proprietorship of one of the German-Austrian bonds, but had every reason to believe that Hornor was a swindler.

Banker Hornor was informed of the result of this inquiry and answered that Huerline was acting in violation of positive orders when he divulged the names of bondholders.

In the meantime a gentleman connected with a clothing house here had written a New York friend about his entrance upon a favorable career. The friend, in answering said that Hornor had moved West after being exposed in New York as a robber.

The Cheyenne contingent now became active. One of the contributors drew a sight draft on Hornor for $7.50, allowing the St. Louis banker 50 cents for his trouble. It was returned unpaid. A letter making bitter complaint brought a response, but it was entirely foreign to the subject and wholly unsatisfactory.

This may and may not end the story. Perhaps thirty to forty Cheyenne people were muled and they are keen for revenge or cash. The postal authorities may take a hand. Every effort will be made to punish the swindlers.

Huerline has gone West.

Cheyenne Commercial Company.
Articles of incorporation of the Cheyenne Commercial company were filed at the office of Secretary Meldrum yesterday forenoon. This concern succeeds the grocery house and market which he has for several years conducted successfully at the corner of Sixteenth and Capitol avenue. The amount of capital stock is placed at $50,000 and H. W. Henderson, R. N. Heath and Albert M. Clark are named as trustees for the ensuing year. There are several other shareholders. Mr. Henderson is to be president, Heath secretary and treasurer and Clark manager. This makes a strong combination and the company has fine prospects.

Advertised the Territory.
Capt. N. J. O'Brien did good missionary work for Cheyenne and Wyoming while in attendance upon the national G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee. He made a thorough distribution of 5,000 board of trade folders, descriptive of this city and the territory. Maj. Shannon's compilation, "Wyoming Resources," and other pamphlets. The captain personally supervised the advertising work. He says that everyone seemed anxious to learn as much as possible about Wyoming and after devouring the printed matter they questioned closely all of the territorial men in Milwaukee.

For the Odd Fellows' Convention at Columbus, O., the Union Pacific, the "Overland Route," will sell round trip tickets at one fare for the round trip. Tickets on sale Sept. 12, 13, 14, and 15, good until Sept. 30.

THE MICHIGAN.

Arranging for Transportation so as to Reopen the Mine.

R. P. Benedict, western agent and ore buyer for the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company, late purchaser of the Michigan copper mine, will be here Sunday with the vice president of the company, enroute to the property. As THE LEADER announced at the time of the sale, operation of the Michigan is to be commenced so soon as possible. The visit of these gentlemen is an earnest of the intention of the company to reopen the mine immediately. Preparatory work will occupy several weeks, and numerous details are yet to be arranged.

The question of transportation is one which enters largely into operation of the mine, and is just now receiving much attention. Unless the Union Pacific makes a good rate from Wendover the company will send its ore east over the Northern, loading at Lusk.

This subject of railway tariff was mentioned in a letter from an interested gentleman received yesterday morning by Secretary Jeffrey of the Board of Trade. A meeting of the trustees was called last evening and President Hay and the secretary were delegated to place the matter before Superintendent Barr at once. In the afternoon the subject matter of the letter to Mr. Jeffrey had been wired the superintendent, who returned from the west this morning.

It is nearly certain that satisfactory figures will be made and the trade from the Michigan, which will employ a very large force, will be diverted to Cheyenne.

Addition to the Shops.

Special Dispatch to The Leader.

OMAHA, Sept. 13.—The Union Pacific has awarded the contract for the construction of repair shops at Anacoda to N. C. Chapman, of Milwaukee, who was the lowest bidder. The plant will not be as large as that at Cheyenne, but will involve the outlay of about $200,000.

It is probable that the contract for the construction of additional shops at Cheyenne will be awarded to morrow. The extra work includes a car repair shop and several other minor structures, involving an additional outlay at that point of about $28,000 for building material alone.

New Patents.

The following patents reached the land office yesterday: Desert entries—Philip Mandel, Henry Parker, Joseph M. Carey, John Condon, Jason D. Bailey, Albert N. Bristol, Wm. J. Maxwell, John Fee, George Hiteshen, James W. Collins, Baxter Anderson, George Roach, George R. Ekyk, Lida Canfield, Orin C. Waid, Charles A. Pollard, Sophia Pollard, Thomas Quealy, Wm. D. Page, Henry H. Landon, Leonora Bloom, Edward G. Stanton, Henry Parker, Braxton P. Mull, Tom Sun, Eugene W. Sharar, Edwin C. Johnson, John Donahue, Francis M. Sutherland, John G. Geiselman, Elizabeth R. Swan, George Johnson, Wm. Stowell, Mary E. Swan, Mary E. Richey, George Bird Grinnell, Joseph Stroud, Sarah A. Stroud, George A. Emery, Josiah R. Apperson, Tacy A. Glein, Henry C. Rincker, Thomas B. Hord, Joseph H. Kennedy, Albert J. Bothwell, Thomas M. Herrick, Wm. A. Williams, Louis R. Meyer, Francis Morey, James M. Lane, John H. Gordon, Gilbert A. Searight and Justus R. Kennedy.

Pre-emption patents—Addison Stewart, Samuel J. Krepp, Jacob B. Hadden, Geo. W. Werthebee, Charles Moran, Dora D. Brandt, John J. Palmer, Phebe J. Johnston, John S. King, Frank W. Foss, Timothy McCarthy, John W. Connor, Chas. Miner, Philip H. Grogan, John Moyle, Oliver G. Mills, Henry M. Inghram and Letitia Kelsey.

Traffic Will be Delayed.

On account of the burning of a bridge on the Southern Pacific the business of that line and the Union Pacific will be delayed for at least three days. Only one train a day will be run from either direction, transferring at the bridge. Perishable freight will not be accepted until the bridge is restored.

The Sewer Question.

THE LEADER is the first paper to present to the public a correct statement of the status of the Jeffrey suit against the city on account of the sewer across the citizen's land on the south side. Mr. Jeffrey did not and has not withdrawn his suit. He has entered into an agreement with the city in which it is stipulated that the temporary injunction against the corporation may be made perpetual. By suffrage of Mr. Jeffrey the city is allowed to maintain a makeshift sewer across his land to Jan. 1, 1890, or longer if given written permission by the owner. Mr. Jeffrey consents to granting a permanent right of way for the sewer if it is properly constructed and placed under ground; however, as indicated above, this must be done within a reasonable time.

Lost.

A lady's small gold watch with monogram "A. B. D." and small diamond back case. Liberal reward if returned to THE LEADER office.

Cholera in Michigan.

Dr. F. D. Larke, of Rogers City, Michigan, says the epidemic of last year in Presque Isle county, in which so many persons lost their lives, was cholera dysentery instead of cholera as first reported. He used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and says it succeeded, where all other remedies failed. Not a single case was lost in which it was used. This Remedy is the most reliable and the most successful medicine known for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery, diarrhoea and bloody flux. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by B. B. David, druggist.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

A Constitutional Chapter on This Subject Adopted.

McCandlish of Johnson has a Proposition on Trusts.

A Pair of Apportionment Plans Submitted.

THE COUNTY QUESTION.

Riner of Laramie was in the chair when the convention of the whole resumed consideration of the county bill.

Potter of Laramie renewed his amendment providing that no section of country should be set into a new county without the consent of the majority of the people resident in the area cut off. Adopted.

Barrow of Converse moved that instead of allowing the legislature to make a law on the subject, the constitution provide that a county seat may be moved when three-fifths of the people so elect, but that such a question shall not occur oftener than once in four years. Mr. Barrow made a brief argument in favor of his motion and it was lost.

Quite a discussion occurred on the two committee reports on township organizations of counties. Several amendments were made and the bill returned to the house with a favorable recommendation.

These are in brief the provisions of the chapter on counties now in the hands of the committee on revision: The counties of the territory shall be counties of the state; legislature shall provide for organization of new counties, locating seats temporarily and changing county lines; new counties shall not have property less than $2,000,000 in value and at least $3,000,000 shall be left in originals; population shall be 1,500; debt shall be equally divided; no section shall be made a portion of a new county without consent of a majority of the inhabitants; legislature provide for changing county seats, but have no power to remove seats; legislature may enact statute providing that counties may adopt the township organization system if the majority of the inhabitants of a county so vote; legislature may provide for election of such county and township officers as may be necessary.

NO TRUST.

McCandlish, the mild, of Johnson is after trusts with a provision seemingly unimpeachable. Its introduction caused not a little comment, as it is the first proposition of the character ever presented. Here it is word for word:

"Any agreement or combinations between individuals, corporations, associations or either having for its object the controlling of any product of the soil or any article of manufacture or commerce or the cost of exchange or transportation is prohibited; nor shall any individual, corporation or association by so purchasing or otherwise obtaining any product of the soil or article of manufacture or commerce and by holding or controlling the same increase the price thereof; nor shall any stockholders who own or control the majority of the stock in any one line of railroad or telegraph or any other common carrier own or in way control a majority of the stock in any parallel or competing line."

MORE MATTER.

An afternoon session of the committee of the whole, Judge Conway in the chair, was quite prolific. As a result three propositions were referred to the revisors. These are the outlines of the chapters:

Powers of government of state shall be executive, legislative and judiciary and shall not interfere.

Amendments to the constitution may be proposed in the state legislature; by agreement of two thirds of the assembly membership the alteration shall be submitted to the people and a majority vote prevails; before election proposed amendment shall be published twelve weeks in a newspaper in each county; two or more propositions may be ratified or rejected at the same time; people may call a convention to revise the old or form a new constitution; its membership shall not be greater than that of the legislature.

Boundaries of the state are as stated in the congressional act creating the territory.

The vote on each proposition was unanimous and they are now practically part of the constitution for the proposed state of Wyoming.

PROPOSITIONS.

Hay of Laramie—APPORTIONMENT—Each county shall be a senatorial and representative district; a district of 1,200 electors shall have a senator and additional senators for each 900 of population; the population figures for the representative is 600 and 400; each district shall have at least one senator and one representative in the year 1892 and each sixth year thereafter; in 1902 the senate is to have from twenty five to forty members and the house two to three times that number; the first state assembly shall have fifteen senators and twenty-eight representatives in this wise: Albany 2 and 4, Carbon 2 and 4, Converse 1 and 2, Crook 1 and 2, Fremont 1 and 2, Johnson 1 and 1, Laramie 3 and 6, Sheridan 1 and 1, Sweetwater 1 and 3, Uinta 2 and 3. Attached to Mr. Hay's proposition is a tabulated statement of the wealth and vote of the territory by counties.

Jones of Uinta—CORPORATION EMPLOYEES—Unlawful for corporation or person to contract that employes waive damage rights if injured in any manner.

Baxter of Laramie—RAILWAYS—Public highways, common carriers and instruments of government; must treat all equal; shall be regulated by state legislature.

Baxter of Laramie—CORPORATIONS—

Franchises are granted for the public good, and may be regulated by the state; charters may be revoked for violation of its provisions.

Barrow of Converse—APPORTIONMENT—One representative at large in congress, to be elected by the people of the state in November, 1890; there shall be census in 1895 and each census year thereafter; state districts to consist of two or more counties; no division; representation in lower house of legislature: Laramie 6, Albany 4, Carbon 4, Sweetwater 3, Uinta 3, Converse 2, Fremont 2, Crook 2, Johnson 1, Sheridan 1.

SUFFRAGE SPECIAL ORDER.
On the motion of Campbell of Laramie consideration of the suffrage committee's report on the propositions relative to female balloting was made the special order for next Tuesday. This was done in the face of a reminder from Mr. Morgan that there would be some fine races at the fair grounds that day. Something was said about meeting in the morning.
