

If all the telegraph wires in this country were stretched in a continuous line they would reach seven times around the earth.

An Orlando (Fla.) policeman shot and wounded a dog, when the canine's companion pitched into the officer and drove him to flight.

A Syracuse (N. Y.) newsboy saves $10,000 damages because a man called him a swindler for exchanging an old paper for a new one.

There may be no color line in Christianity, but there is a large and distinct one in certain theories that call themselves Christian.

A new and delicious style of clam has been discovered on the New England coast. This is bad for the poor clam. He will soon be in the chowder.

Edward Morrow, living near Bradford, Pa., while plowing last fall, lost a $26 wag of greenbacks, which his son plowed up a few days since as good as even.

Every woman in the town of Wooddale, Kan., is said to have voted at the spring municipal election. Are the homes of that town still in good running order?

Postmaster General Swanmaker has no work done on Sunday in the Postoffice Department, except such as is necessary by the engineers, firemen, and watchmen.

Russia has a pianist only five years old, named Kozakiski, who can play Chopin exquisitely with a wonderful delicacy of touch. There is as yet no talk of his starting in America.

An exchange tells us that the likeness published of Mrs. Frank Leslie are all from a photograph taken twenty years ago. That isn't anything. It simply shows that she is well-preserved.

A curious fact is a harvest of 4,000 sponges. It was obtained by an Austrian savant as the result of an experiment of literally sowing small parts of living sponges in a soil favorable to their production.

The grandmother of the Emperor of China is eighty-nine years old, blind, deaf, and a cripple, and the other day her loving grandson presented her with 500 singing birds, 200 silk dresses, and 100 musical instruments.

These reports to the effect that Queen Victoria is about to abdicate annoy everybody in England save the Prince of Wales. He would like to believe them, but he will not allow Hovey to tell any of her flattering tales to him.

The house that Sunset Cox built at Columbus, Ohio, forty years ago is intact. Its front doors and windows are arched like the entrance to churches, and it was in this house that he wrote the editorial that gave him the sobriquet of "Sunset," when he was editor of the Statesman.

It has been calculated that the railroads of the world are worth nearly $600,000,000 ($300,000,000), or about one-tenth of the wealth of the civilized nations, or more than half of their invested capital. At this rate all the ready money in the world would buy about one-third of them.

The Emperor of China is seldom disturbed in his sleep. A Peking paper announces that "strict surveillance is kept by the gendarmes around the palace to prevent the imperial repose being broken by the firing of crackers, street cries, or wrangling voices, the blowing of horns, or noisy marriage or funeral processions."

The Churman, speaking of the death of Damien, the leper priest, says that a leper's hospital tended by deaconesses from the German religious houses, "Year after year these heroic women, without pretentiousness, without any trumpeting of their work, almost unknown to the world, have waited upon lepers, while themselves literally dying by inches. Their courage has only come to light by the chance notice of travelers.

The Constitution of South Dakota, adopted by the Sioux Falls convention, gives school suffrage to women, and provides that an amendment shall be submitted to the people granting them full suffrage. Evidently the delegates were not fully convinced of the propriety of making equal political rights constitutional in the new State to start with, or were not sure of popular approval. Several other provisions are notable, among them one limiting the debt that may be incurred by the State to $500,000, except in case of war, and the county, city, and town indebtedness to 5 per cent. of the taxable property.

SECRET sessions of the Senate are a survival of the practice that prevailed during the first six years of the Government under the Constitution, when all the sessions of the Senate were held in secret. This was at the time when Congress met in the little building still standing at the southeast corner of Sixth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. So strictly was this rule enforced that admission to the chamber was denied even to the members of the House of Representatives. Repeatedly efforts to open the doors of the Senate to the public were voted down prior to the year 1875, when secret sessions were abolished, except in cases specially ordered.

HERNANDOZ tin plate has all been imported and has constituted an immense item, for there is no article of more common use than tin ware. The discovery of tin mines in Dakota, in the Black Hills, offers an opportunity
