MISTOOK PURCELL FOR CARLAND. Mr. Purcell: I believe personal references are prohibited.

Johnson: I thought Mr. Carland was speaking, but it has been suggested by the colleague of the gentleman from Richland stead of compelling nim to live here five years. Mr. Bartlett of Griggs, opposed the motion. When the matter was discussed in committee he favored less time than five years. The majority of the committee then favored five years. But since that time a gentleman has appeared upon the scene who would like to be judge, and who is barred by the five years' limitation. He was opposed to amending or framing a constitution to suit any individual, and he considered that it took a good deal of gall for any one to make such a request. Mr. Lauder explained that as for him-self he favored five years at first because he dit not think it applied to the first judges.

station from the start. Mr. Purcell: What we want on the su-preme bench is as much ability as possible. Many of the best lawyers have been here less than five years and if the people should desire to elect one of them the con-stitution should prohibit. Mr. Purcell's amendment prevailed. Mr. Rolfe said: "If we are so careless with what we consider vital—suffrage— why not be equally careless with regard to candidates for supreme court judgeships? If there is no merit in the one case there is none in the other. He moved that all restrictions on the candidates be removed. Lost. EVENING SESSIONS.

EVENING SESSIONS.

After much discussion and many motions the convention voted to take a recess until eight o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Blewett offered a resolution providing that hereafter until final adjournment two sessions be held daily, one at 2 p. m., and the other at 8 p. m. The evening session was no less inter-

The evening session was no less inter-esting than that of the afternoon. The amendment which stirred up the principal discussion was that offered by Mr. Wil-liams authorizing the supreme court to pass.opinion when called upon by the leg-islature or governor on bills pending for enactment. Mr. Williams was the chief advocate for the amendment, Messrs. Car-land. Lauder. Purcell and others opposing advocate for the amendment, Messrs. Car-land. Lauder, Purcell and others opposing. The amendment was adopted after one of the most spirited debates of the session, Mr. Williams' ingenius speech being given credit for its success. Another important section discussed was that relativa to county courts.

Another important section discussed was that relative to county courts. Mr. Rolfe led the debate in favor of the county courts. He said the present probate courts were a farce, and no man who realizes that he will some day die and leave property to be distributed can regard with satisfaction the present system the present system. Mr. Bartiett of Dickey made a vigorous

Mr. bardet of Dickey made a vigorous speech in favor of the county courts, show-ing through his ripe experience the bad ef-fects of the present system. Mr. Miller spoke earnestly against the county courts, claiming that it would be more expensive for the litigant, rather than less, as had been claimed by the other side.

Mr. Parsons of Morton spoke in favor of the county courts. The committee rose without reaching a final vote on the question, and the convenable to swim, she, too, soon sank to the bottom, the two locked in each other's arms. The father and mother were visiting in Bismarck at the time, and when they re-ceived the terrible intelligence they were almost heart-broken. The funeral oc-curred Wednesday, at the Jewish barying ground on the property of Jos. Katz, near Falconer.

Sheep Raising Profitable.

I. M. Adams in Fargo Republican: I have been as far west as Dickinson. The farmers in that section are turning their attention to sheep raising; and in that I colleague of the gentleman from Richland that the dome of his structure is so like that of Judge Carland, that it is difficult to tell them apart. [Laughter.] A vote being taken Mr.Johnson's amend-ment was defeated. Mr. Purcell moved to amend the next section, so that a man may be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court after living in the territory three years in-stead of compelling nim to live here five years. Sheriff Donnelly received a telegram from Grand Forks Wednesday, advising him to arrest B. Sutherland, who skipped the Forks with embezzled money bound for Seattle. A Treat Indeed.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

The musicale at the Methodist church last evening was one of the most meritorious entertainments ever given in Bismarck. and the church was filled with a most appreciative audience. The musical selections were excellently rendered, the overture by Misses Colby and Beardsley, the vocal solo by Miss Mae Pierce, in which the "The Magic Song" was given with fine effect; the quartette, "Star of Descending Night," by Mesdames Davis and Lusby and Messrs. the quartette, "Star of Descending Night," by Mesdames Davis and Lusby and Messrs. Van Houten and Bushman; the piano solo by Miss Agnes Anderson, "Ye Merry Birds," by Miss Colby, ard "The Song That Reached My Heart," by Mr. Bennett, were all of the highest order and won the applause of the audience. The reading by Miss Cora E. Smith was one in keeping with the reputation of the talented young lady who has won a standing in the front rank of elocutionists. In "How Johnson Quit" she made a decided hit. Miss Noon in "The Two Pictures" and the scene from "Leah the Forsaken" also displayed fine talents, and Miss Gertie Griffin fulfilled the expectations of her most ardent ad-mirers in the reading of "How Kate Shelly Crossed the Bridge." Miss Emma Bell's recitation of "No Protection by Law" was exceptionally good, and the song by Mr. Van Houten, which was given in place of the advertised recitation by Master Charles Reynolds, was highly appreciated. It was an entertainment well worthy of the enthusiastic compliments bestowed by

New Varieties of Wheat.

Whatever can decrease the cost of or Whatever can decrease the cost of or add to the productiveness of our crops adds to the comfort of our homes. It is a benefit to ourselves and society, a blessing to our prosperity and an important service to the nation. In an industrial point of view the introduction of a new prolific variety of grain is of immense national importance, and in this connection will say that it is not so much the soil in the cultivation as the variety itself that insures success. Without a variety of great natural vigor, all the condition for a large crop may be perfect, yet the result will be unsatisfactory. Old methods are giving way to new, old machines to later improved, and old varieties that have lost their original vigor give way when brought into competition with newer and improved kinds. Because a variety is new, however, is no evidence of its worth, as hundreds of varieties are originated to where one is found that is better than the old sorts, while one is offered with real merit. If the farmers could distinguish between the good and the bad varieties, hundreds of dollars would be saved to them, and the introducer of a valuable article could exintroducer of a valuable article could ex-pect a profit commensurate with the value of the great work he is doing. Jefferson says: "The greatest blessing that can be rendered to any country is to add a useful plant to culture.' A few years ago Mr. Everitt of Penn-sylvania began a series of experiments, crossing the Martin's Amber on a number of other varieties principally early maturing red grained sorts, and, as he anticipated was successful in producing a new variety possessing the remarkable stooling pro-pensities, great productiveness of Martin's pensities, great productiveness of Martin's Amber, and one week earlier. It was named Everitt's high grade. The following is a brief but reliable de-scription of Everitt's high grade wheat; Smooth head, white chaff, red grains. The grains are solid, broad, closely set. They are enclosed in close-fitting chaff, which protects the grain effectually from being shelled out in handling. Straw grows about five feet high, al-though I have known it to reach six feet on rich ground and favorable season. It is very strong and stands up to perfection. It is bright and clean, and I have never known it to rust. In season it is early, It is bright and clean, and I have never known it to rust. In season it is early, ripens with the Fultz and other popular varieties. Clean wheat of this variety seldom weighs less than 64 pounds to the measured bushel. It yields a very large return of flour and is perfectly suited to the roller process. It starts a very vigor-ous stalk, and is one of the most hardy growers I know of. Even if very thin in the spring it will thicken up and make a full crop where many other kinds would not pay to cut. In the important matter of productive-In the important matter of productive-ness it is simply immense. South Dakotans Banqueted.

The joint commission which has been in session during the past three weeks for the purpose of dividing the property and adjusting the debts of the territory between the states of North Dakota and South Dakota, having completed its labors, the South Dakota commissioners departed Wednesday evening. The North Da-kota commissioners in keeping with the reputation of Dakotans, both north and south, manifested their appreciation of the ability and personal worth of their southern brethren by banqueting them at the Sheridan house, and making the final busi-ness separation of the Dakotas as pleasant as possible. There were many expressions of friendship and brotherhood, and as the beakers were bumped in parting toasts, the affectionate sisterhood of the twins was given most eloquent expression. The South Dakotans gave unmistakable evidence of their appreciation of the hospital-ity and the event was a most fitting end-ing of the commission's work.

Sister and Brother Drowned.

A sad case of drowning comes from Mc-Lean county, in the neighborhood of the Falconer postoffice. Young Joseph Cushner, aged 9 years, was wading in a small pool formed by the recent rains, under the watchful eyes of Eva, his 19-year-old sister. The boy went beyond his depth and sank out of sight. His sister rushed frantically into twelve feet of water, and being unThe Rev. Geo. W. Reed, the Congrega-tional missionary at the Standing Rock Indian agency, was in the city yesterday.

Casselton Republican: Hon. Addison Leech is now at Bismarck, and Mrs. Leech is with him. The daughters are visiting the boys at the farm and enjoying a Da-kota summer.

Miss Whitney, who has been one of the most efficient teachers of Bismarck's corps of educators, has returned to her Minne sota home, and has accepted a department in the Minneapolis schools.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, who, as a member of the commission of irrigation of arid lands, has been in Washington terri-tory during the past month, passed through the city last night, en route east.

Postmaster J. H. Coles and family, of Fort Yates, arrived in the city yesterday, en route east. Mrs. Coles and the two bright sons will return to their home in Tennessee, Mr. Coles returning from St. Paul.

Langdon Democrat: Mrs. B. R. Glick, Miss Annie McHugh and W. F. Winter left on Tuesday for Bismarck, and in all prob-ability will remain several weeks. No doubt Billy will lend a hand in shaping the affairs of state.

Jamestown Alert: Dr. Bartlett of Dickey county, is one of the characters of the convention. He was formerly a steam-boat captain, but now wears a silk tile and talks temperance. The doctor, by the way is the father of Miss Carrie J. Bartlett, the noted female preacher journelist etc. The noted female preacher, journalist, etc. The daughter must have inherited her talent for talk and disputation from her father. He is one of the most entertaining men in Bismarck, and most any time in the earlier hours of the evening can be seen around the Sheridan, surrounded by a crowd of interested listeners. The words that fall from the doctor's lips are words of wisdom, and many are they that harken thereunto.

On the 25th of January, 1980, Miss Julia Dean took pass-age on the ill starred steamer, City of Boston, which was burned at sea, destroying by flame and water 300 sonls, and by a miraculons dispensa-tion of providence, Miss Dean alone was the only one of the 300 passengers left to tell the tale, after remaining on an uninhabited island over nine yeare. A real Robinson Crusoe. A narra-tive full of romantic and startling, yet strictly truthful adventures on see and land. Perhaps not one other woman in all this world has passed through such a wonderful career. The book is gotten up in first-class style and profuse-y Illustrated. It is highly interesting and no one will regret sending for it. One copy by mail postpaid for only 25c, or three copies for 60c. Remit by postal note. Agents wanted in every town. Address. I. D. STAPLES, Portland, Mich.
